THE LEGACY

James Edward Hunter, (March 8, 1954 - August 2, 2010), attended Grambling State University, where he majored in marketing with a concentration in management. A proud member of the Omega Psi Phi fraternity, he was given the nickname "Hound Dog", for his long running stride on the football field. In 1985, Hunter joined the Anheuser-Busch family as the geographic marketing and community outreach manager for the Midwest region. He developed numerous programs with all the major Detroit professional sports teams. His big smile and warm personality enabled him to reach people from all walks of life.
